

Points To Remember When Bathing A Sick Baby

Give them a sponge bath with lukewarm water to minimize water contact

Check the outside temperature, and don't bathe them if it's cold

If you wash their hair, do it last and dry it first

Do not use ice baths for babies with a fever

Unlike other days, do not let them stay and play in the water for more than ten minutes

Make sure the room is warm for them after the bath

Do not expose them to direct air from fans or air conditioners right after the bath
