

Do they snoop on your phone when you are not around?

Do they only question you about your opposite-gender friends?

Do they only want you to have friends of the same sex?

Do you have to ask their permission to wear an outfit of your choice?

Do they get angry if you wish to spend a night with your friends?

Do they keep asking you to behave a certain way even if you are not comfortable?

Do you have to send pictures of who you are with every time you go out?

Do they force or emotionally blackmail you into doing things you don't want to?

