

How To Handle Challenges Of Parenting Your Child

Do not give in to your child's temper tantrums.

Listen to your disobedient child but explain right from wrong.

Make rules among siblings but avoid being a judge for them in their arguments.

Don't be angry or punish the child for lying, but explain why lying is wrong.

Listen to your child and find the reason for their anger and outburst.

Set disciplinary rules and limit their screen time and frequency.
