

Reasons For Skin Tags In Babies

Repeated friction in between skin layers or between the skin and clothing.

Due to hereditary factors, such as a family history of skin tags.

Result of in-utero development, such as ear tags.

Could be related to type 2 diabetes.

May result from obesity.

May result from Human papillomavirus (HPV) infection.

