

CRUCIAL SAFETY ASPECTS OF AIRBORNE TO KNOW

The FDA does not approve Airborne.

The safety of its herbal extracts for breastfeeding has not been proven.

There is no evidence that Airborne prevents or shortens colds.

Overuse of Airborne may cause vitamin A overdose.

The bottled product was recalled due to potential injury risks.

Recommended doses of Airborne (by the company) may be unsuitable and cause side effects.

References:

1. Makers of Airborne Settle FTC Charges of Deceptive Advertising; FTC
2. Reckitt Recalls More than Three Million Bottles of Airborne Gummies Due to Injury Hazard; CPSC