

False apprehensions — about dating — in the 50s

People in their 50s have too much past relationship baggage.

Everyone has some baggage from their past, and there are some in their 50s looking for love for the first time.

There is a lack of intimacy compared to the younger generation.

The feeling of love is the same for everyone, regardless of age.

People look for someone close to or their age as they age.

Age is just a number and does not act as a barrier between people looking for love.

Most people belonging to the older generations are close-minded.

As time advances, people of older generations advance too.

They only search for partners to support them in old age.

Wanting someone who can take care of you and love you has to do more with a yearning for the company of a loved one.

