

How To Entertain Your 16 Months Baby

Pass the ball by rolling it to your baby and have them roll it back to you.

Skills they may learn:

Hand-eye coordination and object tracking skills.

Blow bubbles into the air and have them track them to play a game of “bubble catching.”

Skills they may learn:

Object tracking and overall skills of vision.

Sort different clothes into their designated baskets and let your baby do the same while you call out the name of the clothes.

Skills they may learn:

Object-noun association, memory, and cognitive skills

Finger count while saying the numbers out loud and ask them to repeat the gesture and number after you.

Skills they may learn:

Memory skills and basic number-quantity association.

Transfer cereal from one bowl to another and have them do the same with their hands.

Skills they may learn:

Hand agility and fine motor skills.

