

Prince Or Princess? Fun Ways To Reveal The Baby's Gender

He or she, pop to see!

Stick some balloons filled with confetti on a board. Fill one balloon with either blue or pink confetti based on your baby's gender. After everyone has arrived, you can ask the guests to pop the balloons one by one or pop them yourself with your partner.

Piñatas

Fill a Piñata with glitters, chocolates, or toys and hide the gender-revealing item among them. If you have another child, have them burst it, or you may burst it yourself to reveal the gender.

Paint-filled eggs

Drain the eggs and fill the hollowed-out eggs with different colored liquids but only one with either pink or blue. You and your partner may throw the eggs against a whiteboard or involve the guests in the game to reveal the baby's gender.

Movie reveal

Have the guests guess movie names from hints in a sheet. The names should have the word pink or blue in them, and whichever color appears more than the other is the gender of the baby.

