

Points To Consider When Selecting A Stain Remover For Baby Clothes

Ensure the stain remover is compatible with the fabric type.

Water-based, pH-neutral, and plant-derived removers are considered gentler.

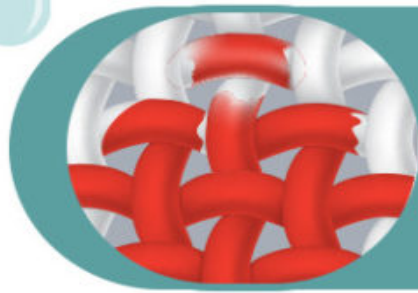

Consider the size of the stain, as some cleaners target minor blots while others handle larger ones.

Stain removers devoid of strong fragrances can be more child-safe.

They should also be free of harsh chemicals.

Hypoallergenic stain removers can be more skin-friendly.

Enzymes-based removers can break down stains without damaging the fabric.

Mom Junction

Source: https://www.momjunction.com/articles/best-stain-remover-for-baby-clothes_00772427/