

Tips To Protect

Your Ski & Snowboards From Theft

Take photos of the boards and note their serial numbers for easy identification.

Personalize your boards with stickers or initials to prevent mistaken mix-ups.

Secure the skis and snowboards to a stationary object using a ski lock when not in use.

Secure them with a lock, even if you need to leave them briefly.

Secure them in a visible location from your position for additional protection.

Check in the boards in a nearby locker facility if possible.

Mix-n-match your boards with that of your friend while storing them, deterring thieves.

Install tracking devices on the boards for extra precaution and easy retrieval.
