

Tips To Follow When Using An Anti-Colic Bottle

Always clean and sterilize the bottle before and after the feed

Make sure the milk or formula is well-heated before feeding

Ensure the baby is not lying entirely flat on their back and their head is slightly elevated

Place or hold the bottle at an angle that doesn't allow air to seep in

Ensure the baby's mouth is wide open and covering the base of the nipple, not just the tip

Regularly burp the baby between feedings for better comfort and digestion
