

Steps To Save

The Water Animals

When visiting the beach, pick up the trash, such as plastic bottles from sand and water.

Know where your seafood comes from. Ask if the fish is sustainable before buying to prevent the negative impacts of overfishing and loss of marine life.

Don't buy dried seahorses as souvenirs when you visit places that sell them.

Support the organizations that work towards protecting turtles by donating to their cause or volunteering.

Pick up your pet's waste from the beaches or other areas near the water, as these wastes can contaminate the water for marine animals.

Respect the space of these water animals while traveling and take photos from a distance.
