

TYPES OF Diaper Changing Pads

Contoured

With foam core, this pad looks similar to a cushion and keeps your infant comfortable. Most of these pads have a waterproof vinyl coating to protect the foam.

Peanut changer

This pad resembles a peanut and has side protectors. It also has straps to prevent your little one from rolling.

Smart

During pediatric visits, this changing pad is often noticeable. The smart pad displays your baby's weight while you clean the mess.

Foldable

It is the most commonly used changing pad. You may carry the pad in backpacks or handbags. However, they need cleaning for reusing.

Disposable

Suitable for traveling, these pads come in handy when you can't wash or wipe them. You may also use this pad at night when you feel lazy to clean the mess.
