

Benefits Of PRETEND PLAY For Children

Linguistic skills

Children learn to connect written and spoken language while enacting scenes. They learn simply by copying the actions of adults.

Problem-solving skills

During pretend play, children imagine themselves in certain situations and learn ways to adjust and react like adults.

Social skills

Pretend play helps children explore complex social ideas by allocating characters to other children and reacting to others' actions.

Independence

Children learn to entertain themselves independently while imagining and creating their own stories.

Creativity

Imaginative play can give wings to a child's creativity as they develop their own plots and acts.
