

Toxic Daughter-In-Law Signs And Tips

To Handle

1 She wants all the control in the house, even your spending, and doesn't let you do things your way.

How to handle: Be open about how you feel, firmly say no when she orders you to do something you don't want to, and lay down your boundaries.

2 She treats you harshly, such as threatening you or blaming you for everything, and is rude to only you but not others.

How to handle: Try to understand what may be causing this resentment and have a conversation to resolve any misunderstandings. But if she remains adamant, you need to take a firm stance.

3 She uses your son, her husband, to attack you and get what she wants by manipulating him against you and playing the victim card.

How to handle: Don't stoop to her level and use your son against her. Try to keep calm and talk to your son about it when she is not around.

4 She doesn't let you interact with your grandchildren and tries to keep them away from you by teaching them the wrong lessons and values about family.

How to handle: Try to express how much you love your grandchildren and show her what she's doing wrong. If she doesn't seem to understand, don't force and let the children come to you.

