

Quotes To Honor Superhero Moms

“Gone are the days when you would sit and wait for your knight in shining armor. Be brave, be independent and believe that you can do it and you can do a better job.”

“The anger and hurt you have within will only help you become stronger and more caring and protective towards your children.”

“You are never ‘just’ a mom. You are everything your child can need in life and more.”

“At the end of the day, it’s the bond you share with your child that matters, and you mommy, know just how to do that.”

“There is no single term that can describe a single mother, for you are all the roles your child needs but rolled into one.”

“It takes a lot of heart and will to be a single parent, so be proud of yourself.”