

Fun-filled Sleepover Games

For Teens

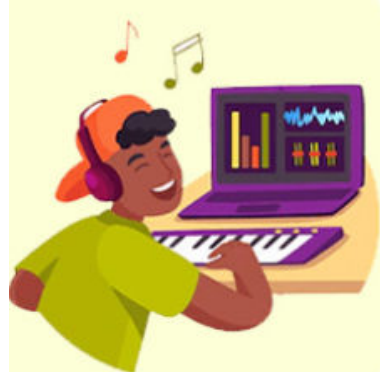

TRUE DARE

Truth and dare

A bottle is rotated, and the person where the mouth of the bottle stops has to pick either truth or dare. If truth is the option, ask a funny question and for the dare, ask them to perform a dare.

Blind-makeover game

One player has to blindfold themselves. The player then applies makeup to the player next to them, and this chain goes on.

Song maker game

A bowl containing paper chits with song titles is placed in the center. The players pick up one slip each and make a song from the title.

Candy chomp

All the players sit in a circle with a bowl of candies in the middle. A player eats the candy. Another player rolls a die. The player must chew and finish the candy and stop only if the die yields four or six. If it does, the player is out.

Talent competition

Host a talent show where teens can showcase their hidden talents. You may pick any subject for the competition, such as singing, dancing, or even miming.
