

TIPS

For Couples Who Are Soon Moving In Together

Pick a convenient place almost equidistant from your workplaces or relatives and friends.

Decide on the things each of you will bring and make space for each other's dearest possessions.

- Prepare a schedule, divide the chores, and make adjustments if the other is caught up with work some days.

Be transparent about your personal needs and respect each other's "me" time or prepare a designated space to have some privacy.

If you have pets and children, decide how you will take care of them and prepare a schedule accordingly.

Discuss having guests over and that you must let the other person know before making sudden plans.
