

DOS AND DON'TS OF TEXTING A GIRL

When texting her for the first time or just after a date, mention her name in the message.

If you haven't met this girl yet, wait before you ask her on a date.

Keep at least 10 to 15 minutes between your replies, and occasionally extend it to an hour.

When you are unsure of how to text her, copy her texting style.

Some women love being flattered, but only to a specific limit.

Keep your texts short and to the point. Do not get into too many details when she asks you something.

Do not send her texts in lazy SMS language where you shorten words unnecessarily.

Do not drag a joke or a funny incident that it gets annoying.

If you want her to take an interest in you, refrain from sending general messages such as 'Hi' or 'What's up?'

Do not ever send her your bare-chested photos.

Do not text too quickly when you first receive her message.

No matter how well you get along with her or how tempting it gets, do not jump onto sexting right away.
