

Reasons Your Ex May Come Back

They realize they were the happiest with you and cannot connect personally with anyone else.

If their breakup was due to their mistake, their ego might have calmed down, and they wish to apologize now.

They are lonely and cannot find anyone else.

You used to take care of all their problems, and now they feel lost without you.

They depended on you financially and now want to be back for the money.

They are jealous of your lifestyle or your current partner and don't want you to be happy without them.

